ANSWERED "OUI, OUI" TO GEN. PERSHING

Commanding General Sees a Boxing Match and Baker's See Some Extra Drill—Food Prices and Restrictions in France.

Camp de Souge, France, Feb. 22.—Things over here are pretty much the same as usual with the exception that we can buy a few more things in the stores if we have enough money. You think things over in the states are high. How about eggs 10 cents each, an ordinary meal of eggs, a small chop and a few spuds with dry black bread a dollar. Even fruit is high, oranges over a dollar a dozen for any half way decent. Ice cream, with no cream in it, at a franc a dish and cakes, such as are permitted to be sold at a franc for a 4 ounce package.

Evading Cake Prohibition.
At certain hours in the day you cannot eat cakes, which you have purchased, in public places. I went in one store one day and knowing the woman who runs it, asked for a couple of small cakes to eat with a dish of cream. At first she would not sell them, then while one clerk watched to see if no policeman was in sight she gave me a couple and warned me to keep them out of sight. I think they are not to be eaten before 6 o'clock at night and then for an hour or two in the middle of the day, along about meal times. Butter is very scarce and high. Milk is also scarce and pretty nearly everything is either forbidden by the government or forbidden to most of the soldiers on account of the high price and scarcity of the necessary things. I, however, manage to get all I want and as I do not do much celebrating I still make all my leaves. Of course, many of the fellows go out on pay night and indulge in wines until their pay is about gone. My celebration takes the form of a good dinner party down town with plenty to eat about once a month.

I am getting on fine and have not lost any of that weight yet. I feel fine and am having a pretty good time, at times I manage to get as much liberty as any of the boys and am not working myself to death, believe me. My work keeps me busy but since the armistice it has been pretty easy. Lieutenant Bond, with whom I work, is very fine and I sure would be sorry to see him leave. In fact, all of the officers are fine all the way down from Major Galbraith to the junior lieutenant. Good officers to work with are one of the best things you can have. I don't mind if they are strict if they are just and right in their strictness. I know we need a little taming down once in a while but so far I had no trouble at all never even had a day of extra duty since I have been over. Possibly I have deserved it sometimes but I have been lucky and escaped.

Answered "Oui, Oui."
We are expecting Gen Pershing here tomorrow. He was due here Sunday but failed to come. It reminds me of the last time he was here. A couple of the fellows from the bakery who were off duty were boxing in the barracks and sundry others were doing "bunk taggins" when I walked the general. No one thought it was considered necessary to call attention to none snapped to attention. The boxing match went on and the general asked: "How are you boys getting on, are you getting plenty of eat?" and one of the men, a sergeant at that said: "Oui, Oui." That was too much for the other fellows with General Pershing, and next day we got ours. Although it was only a dozen men who were off duty who pulled the boner, still we all had to suffer, both bakers and Q. M., and therefore for the next few weeks we got up a bit earlier in the morning and proceeded to learn how to drill and what to when the commanding general inspected the quarters. I guess some of us learned it was not proper to say "Oui" to an American army officer.

How is Buster getting along? I often think of how funny he looked the last day I was home.

MEN MUSTERED OUT

Get Information as to Jobs From Civil Service Offices.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, D. C., March 15.—Soldiers, sailors and marines at ninety military and naval establishments in the United States are now receiving first-hand information concerning opportunities for employment in the Federal civil service from representatives of the United States Civil Service Commission, appointed to serve at such establishments under authority issued by the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy.

These representatives of the Civil Service Commission are supplied currently with full information concerning positions open in the civil service in which men who are soon to be mustered out may be interested. They are prepared to inform the men concerning the requirements for entrance to the various positions, to supply them with application blanks and to facilitate in every way their application for employment in the civil service.

The commanding officers at the various posts are co-operating fully in the work, and the men in whose interest the work is being performed are showing a lively interest in it. It is expected that this new organization of the Civil Service Commission will result in placing in good positions large numbers of the men who left their jobs to take part in the war.

NOT PARALLEL CASES

In the course of an interesting article by Samuel G. Blythe on "Politics and the Army," is related the experience of a young millionaire who served as a private and who after 72 hours of work as a stretcher bearer, with little food or sleep, was refused food at a field kitchen because the cooking done there was for officers. The young man says that gave him the view point of the tramp who looks in the windows and sees the wealthy people at their feasts. He is quoted as saying:

"I couldn't have anything to eat in that place because I was a private and not an officer; and the tramp on the street can't have anything to eat in my house because he is a private in ordinary life and I am an officer."

This is a sample of the loose reasoning and lack of accurate thought and statement too prevalent among all classes. There is not the slightest resemblance between the two cases cited. The young man who was refused food at the field kitchen was cooking for officers has a real grievance against the small-minded persons who followed rules when rules should have been set aside. He needed food badly through no fault of his own, but because he had been doing his duty. He had earned the food and it was due to him from the government he had served and that was under obligation to supply it to him. He rightfully feels resentment against those who enforced a trivial rule in a time of emergency.

"The tramp on the street" is a tramp on the street because he is not a worker and therefore has not earned food. He has rendered no service to anyone, not even to himself. The fact that he is "a private in ordinary life" has nothing to do with the case. It is not his station, his official standing, but his failure to earn that prevents him from earning the food owned and earned by either "an officer" or another "private in ordinary life."

The reasons why there was just cause for grievance in the one case is the very reason why there is no cause for grievance in the other. There is no reason why the industrious should feed the indolent. The world does not owe a living to parasites.

Rhode Island elects to fight prohibition. Two successive legislatures of that state have refused to ratify the eighteenth amendment and a resolution has just been introduced which denounces it as "destructive of the Constitution" in that it does not amend our system of government but "completely alters and transforms it."

The resolution demands that the United States Supreme Court pass on the constitutionality of the act of Congress proposing the prohibition amendment. It is altogether probable that the Supreme Court will be called upon and will undertake to consider the constitutional legality of nation-wide prohibition under Federal decree.

Meanwhile, pending the handing down of the Court's opinion, nature's self-elected process of fermentation will go on, every bottle of grape juice and every keg of cider producing immediately a little and finally a great deal of alcohol. The Constitution can be amended, but nature cannot be changed.

The high Hun hopes of annexing the world to Germany have not only met bitter disappointment but Germany itself is to shrink in dimension. We now read that an enlarged Poland will incorporate West Prussia, that East Prussia and the Rhineland will be made separate republics, and that France will get the Saar Valley as well as her lost provinces of Alsace and Lorraine.

Of course the still alarmingly conciliated Germans are rubbing their eyes in astonishment. The Berlin Tagblatt indignantly protests that the Allies seem to think that Germany is a third rate power. She is less than that now and is likely to be a sixth rate power when the victors have finished their business. What do those Hun plunderers expect? After attempting to tread down the whole world and going back to all the savagery of thirty centuries, they deserve to be reduced to a tenth rate power and to be kept permanently behind prison bars into the bargain.

AMERICANS HURT IN FOREIGN ARMIES

May Now Receive Vocational Training and Same Advantages as Men Disabled in Our Military Service From Federal Board.

By Telegram to The Freeman—Washington, March 18.—By a curious twist of the law an alien who has served in the armies of the United States and has been so badly injured that he is entitled to compensation from the War Risk Insurance Bureau is entitled to the free vocational retraining furnished by the government of the United States.

A citizen of the United States who has served in the armies of the Allies, fighting for the same cause, is not entitled under the law to receive this retraining at the hands of his own government.

Thousands Fought For Liberty. There were thousands of citizens of the United States, filled with a loyalty and a high sense of justice, who realized, long before their government realized the fact, that the liberty of the world was hanging in the balance in Europe. They rushed into the Canadian, the British, and the French armies. They were among the bravest of the brave. Many of them have never come back, and never will come back. Many of them have returned broken in health, wounded, maimed, and unable to make a living on account of the injuries they received, and under the law they can neither receive compensation from the United States government nor the education which would enable them to utilize their remaining capabilities so as to afford them a living and prevent them becoming charges either upon the charity or compensation of the several communities.

What Law Provides. The law is very plain upon this subject. The free retraining, the support at $15 a month, and allowance to dependents and placement in a position after qualifying, administered by the Federal Board for Vocational Education is confined to members of United States army, navy, and marine corps. Doubtless, a subsequent amendment to the law will pass Congress, but in the meantime the Federal Board has been changed to obtain a "gift fund," which Congress authorized it to maintain for emergency and other cases, and the board is now able by the generosity of several large donations to undertake to give these Americans who were in reality "first to fight" the same benefit which those of the regular establishments may receive by law.

Federal Board Can Aid. The Federal Board is now endeavoring to locate all such disabled men who have sustained injuries in the armies of our allies, and thereby unable to resume their former occupations, or to pursue successfully new occupations. Upon proof of their service and injuries and necessity for vocational retraining the Federal Board is prepared to give them as fully and completely as to any soldier of the United States army. The Federal Board will appreciate being placed in touch with any such men or their families, and if relief is needed it will be immediate and generous, preliminary to starting upon the course of education and retraining. The address of the Federal Board for Vocational Education is Washington, D. C.

TELEPHONE CO. REFUNDS CHARGES
In Some Cases Where New Rates For Installation Were Not Known to Subscriber—Supreme Court to Settle Question of Postmaster General's Authority.

By Telegram to The Freeman—Albany, March 18.—The Public Service Commission, Second District, after investigation of a number of complaints against charges for installing and restoring telephones by the New York Telephone Company acting under the orders of the postmaster general directs the telephone company to refund the charges against which the complaints were made. The complaints which were filed with the commission undoubtedly formed a small part of the telephone subscribers who were affected by the telephone company's charges.

Company's Refunds Difference. The New York Telephone Company has notified the Public Service Commission that it has modified its practice whereby telephone customers who made contracts or verbal arrangements for telephone changes are entitled to refunds, the difference between the amount agreed upon with the representatives of the company and the amounts which were actually charged for installing and restoring telephones. Prior to the issuance of the postmaster general's order taking over the telephones there were agreements made and many representatives of the company did not know about it for some time after issuance and they continued making agreements and contracts in the former manner. Notwithstanding the arrangements made, the company charged larger amounts for the changes than had been understood by the parties arranging for such changes.

Refund Refused Where Rates Given. The telephone company has now decided that in those cases where there had been such an understanding with patrons that a refund will be made but it has refused to reimburse the amount of charges where the new rates for the changes were given patrons, even when protest was made. The telephone company says the Federal Administration has issued instructions that where subscribers have objected to payment of charges higher than those agreed to and where arrangements were made in good faith between September 1 and receipt of the order prescribing charges for service connections and removal charges there should be an adjustment of the charge to the terms of the original arrangement.

About half a dozen complaints arising in New York, Brooklyn and Buffalo were heard by the commission and in four the telephone company has notified the commission that refunds will be made. The authority of the Postmaster General has been raised in a Supreme Court suit over toll rates and the commission will take no action on the orders relative to installation and restoration charges until action is determined.

PRIZE SPEAKING AT HIGH SCHOOL

Girls To Have Contest Through O'Meara's Generosity—First Exercises Open To All Wednesday And Thursday.

It will be remembered that the high school boys have been offered a prize for oration by our good-hearted friend, Judge A. T. Clearwater. This year the girls have been offered a similar prize for oration by our good-hearted friend, Judge A. T. Clearwater. This year the girls have been offered a similar prize for oration by our good-hearted friend, Judge A. T. Clearwater.

But another one of Kingston's loyal citizens has come forward and voluntarily offered a similar prize for the girls. This generous-hearted man is Dr. Mark O'Meara, who is very well known as a promoter of all things which tend to help the citizens of Kingston to become better fitted for their various duties. Never till this year did Kingston High School discover what a great number of loyal supporters or boosters it has to uphold it in all its endeavors. The students have a number of prizes to work for now. But there are very few who realize the encouragement and help such things give to the average student.

The preliminary contests will be held on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. It is expected that the boys' contest will take place Wednesday and the girls the following day. A short musical program has been arranged also and everyone is well come. These contests will take place in the morning in the auditorium and they will be very interesting to anyone.

One of the features of the Philadelphia meeting will be an elaborate discussion of the proposed League of Nations.

PLAN TO MAKE OIL FROM SHALE

Great Industry May Be Born as Result of Experiments Being Made.

DEPOSITS IN THREE STATES

Decrease of Supply of Petroleum and Products and Ever Increasing Demand Makes Substitution Necessary for Years.

Salt Lake City, Utah.—Oil shale must be looked to, probably for years to come, to supply increasing demands for and lessened supply of petroleum and its products. Salt Lake City seems to be the natural center for experimentation and exploitation of an industry which is not yet born in this country, although manufacture of oil from shale has been conducted on a commercial basis in Scotland for 80 years.

In Colorado, Utah and Nevada, east, west and south of Salt Lake City, are shale deposits of unknown magnitude, and of richness surpassing that of shales known elsewhere. Oil shale is a common and general term for several different geological formations—different in appearance and in gum content.

Without attempting any elaborate description, it will be sufficient to say that the Colorado deposit is found in dense masses of black rock, often with a considerable fossil content. Some southern Utah shale appears in broad strata two or three inches thick, light gray in color, and may be extracted and handled like great planks, while the Nevada deposit (pronounced richest of all) appears in sheets rarely more than half an inch thick, of one, even texture resembling an oil stone and dark brown in color. It is readily broken, even with the fingers.

Different Productive Methods.

Chemists say different methods of reduction will be necessary in the utilization of these various forms of gum-containing rock. A greater part of all experimentation by competent persons in the United States has occurred in the chemical laboratory of the University of Utah. In Salt Lake City, here Dr. W. D. Bonner, consulting chemist to the bureau of mines, department of the interior, in charge of laboratory investigation, is the authority. Dr. Quinn is his assistant.

A fact which has been widely heralded, but which is pronounced of no importance by the chemists, is that a small shale reduction plant was built at the university about a year ago. It is not used now, nor did its use ever have any special significance. To be even more plain, the fact of this small resort having been built at the university was seized upon by some promoters of "shale oil" companies and considerable advertising matter has been circulated regarding an "industry" which does not exist.

The proper method of reduction (destructive distillation) is the chemical term) of oil shales of the United States has not been determined. Refining of the resultant crudes has not been satisfactorily accomplished. Chemists anticipate no difficulty in perfecting these processes—but it has not yet been done.

Crude Oils Vary.

The product of oil shale after "destructive distillation" and retorting is a heavy, thick, dark oil, resembling in many ways the petroleum known as fuel oil; and it may be used as such. These crude oils vary, as may be supposed, according to the shales from which they are produced. They smell more like asphalt than petroleum.

An immense amount of gas is liberated by the distillation. Some enthusiasts believe this gas will be a sufficient fuel supply for the resort furnaces, but in this the chemists do not agree. The idea savors too much of perpetual motion. Important by-products are paraffin and ammonium sulphate. It is also considered probable some form of commercial fertilizer will be obtained.

Several bona fide experimental shale reduction plants are now being constructed in the three states mentioned. Chemists of the bureau of mines are agreed that the greatest hindrance that could occur to the legitimate development of a shale oil industry in the United States would be any extensive "wildcatting"; that is, selling of stock in imaginative shale oil plants, or even in plants to be erected by unformed persons and which may be held out to be practical commercial ventures. A shale oil plant is an experiment in this country at the present time, nothing more.

In order to encourage legitimate and practical experimentation, an effort will be made to induce congress to make an appropriation to assist responsible companies.

Let the fact be clearly stated that manufacture of oil from shale must be, so far as is now known, one of the greatest industries in years to come. Plants which are perfectly legitimate now. They are good businesses. But evidences of wildcatting are abundant, and they will tend to discredit the entire business and cause it to be looked upon for a long time, perhaps, as a gamble. Just as wildcat mines and oil wells have caused many people with money to invest to view all such propositions with suspicion.

SPECIAL POULTRY PROJECT BEGINS

This Evening At New Paltz With Farm Bureau and State College Cooperating—Thursday At Stone Ridge.

The Farm Bureau of Ulster, Orange, Rockland and Sullivan counties will have the services of a poultryman to assist in carrying out a poultry farm project this year. This project is conducted through the Farm Bureaus and State College of Agriculture cooperating and is calculated to improve stock and methods of management with a view to increase returns. R. C. Ogilvie, a successful poultryman of Rockland county and a member of the Extension Department of the College of Agriculture will have charge of this work.

One of the important features of the work is a simple account bookkeeping system. A special form has been prepared by the poultry department for this purpose. Cost of production can be figured in this manner and leaks in the business located.

A similar project has been carried on in Erie county for three years with 48 poultrymen. The success of the project in Erie county has led to its development in other counties.

A poultry meeting has been scheduled for New Paltz, this evening at 8 o'clock, at Tamney's Hotel. Also at Stone Ridge, Thursday, 8 p. m. at the Grange Hall.

The poultry project will be outlined in detail at these meetings.

A Golden Feather.

The feathers of the "golden pheasant" are a source of profit, being used in the manufacture of artificial flies for salmon fishing. These birds, natives of China, are the hardest of the pheasant tribe, and are not at all troublesome to rear in this country.

No More Days Of Less

Meatless, heatless, wheatless are days of the past; but the thrift born of them is with us to stay.

To demand the utmost for a dollar is one great lesson the world has learned. Along with other days of less, it has cancelled days of less service.

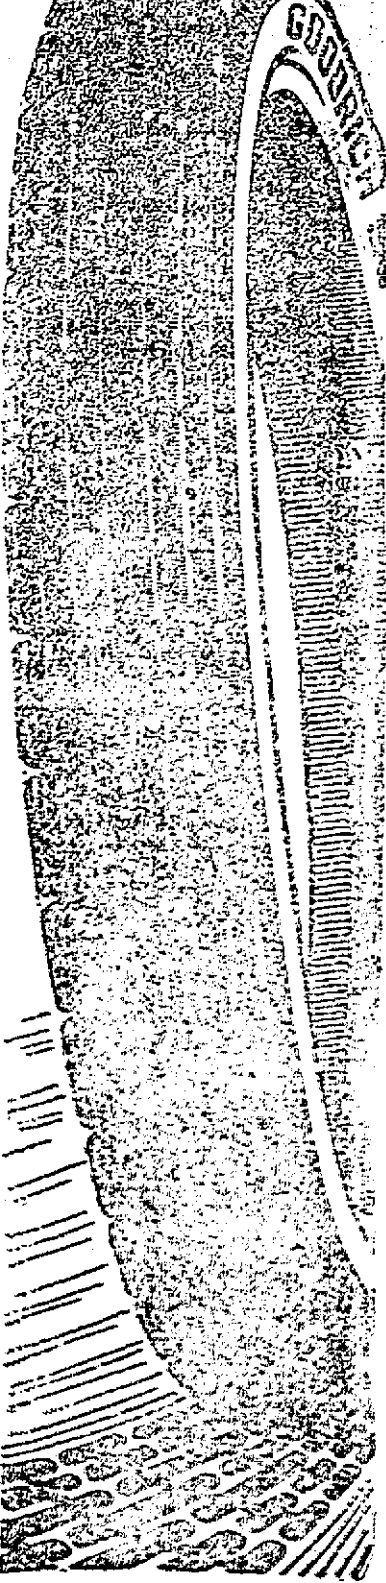

Service has always been the Goodrich measure of the value of tires; that is, what a tire proves itself worth you in service on your car, and on the road.

You see promise of service in the burly, full rounded bodies of Goodrich Service Value Tires; and their thicker SAFETY TREADS, extra wide to fortify the sidewall against rut grinding.

You get fulfillment of promised service value in their dependability and durability wherever you take them.

HERE AND THERE ABOUT THE TOWN

The Stroller Hears Baseball Talk Alred—The Yarn of the Place Hitter and the Donkey Who Helped Win the Game.

"Yes, sir, now is the time to start talking of organizing a Hudson River Baseball League," said the customer, engaging in an argument with the barber during a pause in the hair clipping business.

"Don't get excited, I believe you," replied the barber, "and I for one would certainly like to see Kingston represented in such a league. I believe it would pay."

"Maybe," agreed the customer, doubtfully, "but you don't want to forget the freight car rosters."

"That can be remedied by making the fence higher along the railroad tracks," said the barber.

"That's so, too," agreed the customer.

"It makes me feel young again," continued the barber, "to hear some baseball talk. Did I ever tell you how I saved the game with the aid of a donkey?"

"Not that I remember," replied the customer, seating a yarn.

"I have always laid claim," continued the barber, "to being one of the best place hitters the game ever saw."

"Seems to me you were telling me about a place hit you made once," interrupted the customer.

"This game I was speaking of,"
said the barber, not noticing the interruption, "was a hot one. We were tied up to the ninth inning and were last at bat. Two were out when I stepped to the plate with my trusty willow. It was up to me to win the game. Every one was intensely interested. The only living thing that did not seem to take any notice of the game was a donkey, hitched to a cart, way out in left field.

He seemed to have gone to sleep, and every once in a while he would open his mouth and gape. I had my eye on the donkey, and right there an idea struck me. The pitcher handed over a corner cutter. I saw the donkey yawning and using my best efforts, I struck the ball and lined it into the gaping mouth of the brute. Before the fielder could get the donkey to drop the ball I had scored with the winning run."

THE STROLLER.

HURLEY.

Hurley, March 17.—The Home Economics Association held a meeting in this village on Tuesday last, the first of a series on the care of the sick and injured. The principal speaker was Dr. Lucia Heaton of St.
Lawrence county. The writer was a little "tingly about venturing, as the only present but was encouraged by his friends to remain until the end and was well repaid for so doing.
Dr. Heaton's charming personality, her charming presentation of her topics and her thorough acquaintance with the subject made her remarks and explanations not only clear and plain but extremely interesting and instructive. The topics covered were the care and treatment of the many accidents that may occur in any household or neighborhood. This included bandaging, the use of medicines and antiseptics also.
Miss Stuart, our county agent, made an admirable assistant in every way, especially in demonstrating the use and application of the various bandages employed. Those present are certainly to be congratulated on the opportunity afforded them for getting a ground work in the care of the injured. At the close of the demonstration Miss Burnett, supervisor of schools, addressed the meeting on the need and importance of forming a parent-teachers' association for the benefit of the village school. The next meeting will be Friday, March 28, and the subject will be on the preparation of food for the sick.
This will be by Miss Stuart.

M. T. E. DeWitt is certainly doing his level best to reduce the price of wool by increasing the supply. With a pair of twins to each of his five ewes, his record is about perfect. The rest of us wool growers are feeling jealous.

Mrs. George R. Van Sickle held a small card party lately for a number of her friends which was highly enjoyed. Only by the hostess but also by those present. A neat and delicious lunch followed the games.
There were present Mr. and Mrs. Ray
Smith, Fred Lockwood, Miss Anna

CUT YOUR SHOE BILLS WITH NEOLIN SOLES

"The answer to the problem of shoe wear lies in the use of Neolin Soles," so says H. L. Evans of Steubenville, Ohio.

"For five months," says Mr. Evans, "I have been wearing the same pair of Neolin-soled shoes at my work at the La Belle Iron Works and they are good for two months more wear. As my work takes me to all parts of the mill daily where I have to walk over cinders, slag, etc., it is simply out of the question to buy anything else to take the place of Neolin Soles."

You too—and your whole family—will find Neolin-soled shoes wear long and so save money. You can get them in the styles you like at almost any good shoe store. And any repairman will re-sole your worn shoes with Neolin Soles—scientifically made to be durable, comfortable and waterproof. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to out-wear any other heels.

NAVAL SERVICE

Has Given Uniformly Better
Physique To Those Who Served.

The Bureau of Medicine and Surgery of the Navy Department has issued the following information on the health of men leaving the Naval Service:

Men who are now leaving the service are taking back to civilian life a much better physique on the average than when they entered.
Figures compiled by Lieut. F. L.
Ridge, Medical Corps, after examining 500 men, show that in almost every instance the individual is in considerably better physical condition for having served in the navy.
Measurements of the chest, biceps and waist line were taken and compared with the measurements of the same men when they entered the navy. A general average was taken and it was found that the man going out has a chest circumference 1 1/2 inches greater than when he entered.
He can expand his chest an additional seven-eighths of an inch. His biceps are three-fourths of an inch larger, while his waist line has reduced three-fourths of an inch.

Out of 500 men it was found on the average the individual has gained 5 1/2 pounds in weight since entering the navy. Fat men have reduced, youngsters have become busy young men. On the average, men coming from aviation have gained more than those coming from other camps. The greatest individual increase occurred in the weight of a landman machinist's mate, aviation.
This sailor sailor enlisted at the age of 17 and after a year's service is leaving the navy 82 pounds heavier.

This shows that a navy training will do for a young man the bureau of navigation has ordered a vigorous campaign for men for the naval service.

COURTESY FOR TEAM WORKERS

Who Are Carrying on Centenary Campaign of Methodist Church Is Desired—Demands on Church.

(Contributed)

Now that the work of securing pledges is started it is hoped that each person will treat the team workers, who are seeking to do the work of pledge securing, with due consideration, not simply for the sake of the workers but that there may be the greatest amount of good gotten out of the efforts which they are putting forth.

It may be true that you have not heard much about the centenary and hence in doubt as to what it all means. If this be true, invite the team workers to sit down and explain it to you. They are perfectly willing to take the time to do this; it may be that some particular phases of it are not clear, ask questions on these points; it may be that you are in doubt as to what you can do to help and need the counsel of some one, talk this over with the solicitors; above all things do not just say that there is nothing which you can do and in consequence say to the solicitor there is no use spending any time talking to you.

Who Has Squared Accounts?

There was a curious man in Christ's time, who climbed up into a sycamore tree that he might see Christ as he passed. Christ took note of his conduct and when He came to the tree invited him down, telling him that it was his purpose to abide with him that day.

Just what this man may have been doing with his possessions toward the support of benevolent causes, previous to this time, is not recorded in the narrative, but we are told that after he had entertained Christ "Zacchaeus stood, and said unto the Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have taken anything from any man by false accusation, I restore him four fold."

A conversation worth while as far as winning the man to become interested in others who concerned and in helping him to determine to make good the wrongs he might have committed, but that was not all, there came new blessings into his own life. "And Jesus said unto him, this day is salvation come to this house."

"How many of us have really squared our accounts with our neighbors, if we have taken advantage of them in a business way, and how many of us have really consecrated our substance to the service of the kingdom of God?"

If these questions have not been settled the real blessing of personal salvation is not ours and we know nothing of the joys of salvation no matter how religious we may be or successfully we may be playing the pious act—sit down and think it over and it will do you worlds of good to really take Christ as your guest—and who knows but that it may be true that the Christ is seeking to come into your life through the appeal that is being made to you through the centenary?

World Holds Out Hands.

Paul had made his plans for the immediate future, at one period of his experience, but these plans were not carried out for "A vision appeared to Paul in the night; there stood a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come over into Macedonia, and help us."

There may not be a man standing by our bedside soliciting our aid, in the same sense in which Paul saw one in his night vision, but surely the world is holding out its hands to the Christian people for help when there are in India literally thousands seeking admission into the Christian Church; fifty millions are moving en masse toward Christianity and of this number Methodism is responsible for six millions and they will not be instructed if Methodism does not assume the task and listen to their cry.

We refused to baptize 150,000 of these people last year because we lacked means and missionaries sufficient to instruct them that they might become intelligent Christians. This is only one conspicuous example. Hands are being held out to the Christian Church from the four corners of the earth and if it does not respond what answer is it going to give when the evil blood of these people cries out to God and He refers the cry back to us with inquiry, "Where is thy brother?" Treat the centenary thoughtfully.

No Lame Apologist.

"The old train robbers have entirely disappeared from Crimmon Gulch." "Yes," replied Three-Finger Sam. "And good riddance." "I suppose so. But I must admit I have a certain respect for a train robber. When he wanted to shoot things up an' take possession of other people's property, he didn't try to excuse himself by saying he was a socialist."

A Maxwell Grows Better the More You Drive It

THAT is the test of anything good. The more you use a good watch the better it runs. The older your friends grow the better you like them.

And nothing is more pat on a Maxwell than this.

Hardly a day goes by that some Maxwell owner doesn't take his pen in hand and write that he is now passing a mark of 30,000 miles or 20,000, or 50,000.

To purchase such a man's Maxwell from him would be like trying to buy an heirloom from a rich man.

But these Maxwells of today are far better cars than those of yesterday.

For it is the policy of the Maxwell Motor Company to keep on building and building on the original chassis plan set down 5 years ago.

300,000 Maxwells have been built on this program.

1000 refinements have been made since the first car was built.

Each new Maxwell is better than yesterday's.

For doing one thing always results in doing it well.

This Maxwell you see today is so restly improved in appearance that you may think it a new model.

But it isn't. Just a better looking Maxwell. And a better car.

Fifty Years! Isn't it wonderful? The Success has been with good service, square dealing, and unquestionable values. The greatest values yet offered will be found in the mammoth anniversary sale which opens Saturday next. These items will surprise you—Wait until you see the values.

We Are Fifty Years Old This Week

During this period, we are going to have an exhibit in our store of dresses, hats and wraps that are fifty years old. Some of them replicas of the styles of fifty years ago, while others are the original purchases which were made in this store. We will also show some Paisley Shawls which were in the height of fashion in 1869.

The styles of today are very much different. From the wide hooped garments of fifty years ago, styles have dwindled to the slender silhouette which is so popular today.

These up-to-the-minute fashions in suits, coats, dresses, skirts and wraps may be found in our Women's Wear Salon, 2nd floor.

The Millinery does not seem to be much changed. The pretty faces of the last half century were framed in poke bonnets and the pretty faces of the Twentieth Century are also framed in poke effects. All the latest styles in millinery are now being displayed in the Millinery Salon, 2nd floor.

STATE SHORT ON WAR CHEST PLEDGES

Clister Has Made Payments Thus Far But to Maintain Quota All Must Meet Their Obligations, Says Mayor Canfield's Letter.

March 18th, 1919.
To the Subscribers to the Ulster County War Chest:

I am pleased to report that the subscribers to the War Chest are generally meeting their payments as pledged. I regret to report that an erroneous feeling has developed among the workers in many industrial plants of the city which has caused many of them to stop their payments. I know this is the result of a misunderstanding as I have faith and confidence in the patriotism of our industrial workers.

The need for this money is just as great as when the campaign was conducted in November last. The War Chest must pay about $3,000 each month to the United War Work Campaign, which includes the Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, Y. W. C. A., Jewish Welfare Board, War Camp Community Service, American Library Association and Salvation Army.

All of this money is being used by these organizations for welfare work for the soldiers and sailors. The money spent abroad is expended under the supervision of the commanding officers of the respective military and naval forces. The part expended in the United States is subject to the supervision of the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy.

Demobilization Slow.

The leaders of the seven organizations mentioned above, and the military and naval authorities are united in the opinion that every cent pledged for these organizations will be needed. Demobilization is proving to be a much slower process than was originally anticipated. The seven organizations are today serving more men in uniform than at the time the campaign was organized last year. With the cessation of hostilities a larger welfare program, especially overseas, became necessary.

New York city has voluntarily overpaid the percentage of subscriptions due, and is placed on the honor roll with six states which have done likewise. Unfortunately, New York state outside of New York city has not made a creditable showing. It is one of the few states which has not made its payments as pledged. On the first of this month, the state counties were nearly $500,000 short in their payments. Thus far Ulster county has met its payments. If it is to continue its payments and meet its quota all of those who made pledges must become awakened to the necessity of meeting their pledges.

Our boys are coming home slowly but surely. They have kept their pledges. We cannot meet them with broken pledges. They have finished their job. Let us finish ours by making our War Chest payments. I ask you in their behalf.

Sincerely,
PALMER CANFIELD, JR.,
President, Ulster County War Chest Association.

Puzzle for the Jury.

Here is a summing up which is hard to heat for succinctness: "Gentlemen of the Jury: In this case the counsel on both sides are unintelligible, the witnesses incredible, and the plaintiffs and defendants are both such bad characters that to me it is a matter of indifference how you give your verdict."

PARTY LINES IN LEGISLATURE

Sharply Drawn as Majority Republicans Oppose Appropriation For Smith's Reconstruction Commission.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., March 18.—The break between the Republican majority and the Democratic minority in the legislature came today when the Democrats failed to bring their bill appropriating $60,000 for Governor Smith's reconstruction commission out of committee for action on the floor of the houses. The attempt marked the beginning of the legislative fight between the two parties.

The Democrats are intent on forcing a vote on every measure they have introduced and the Republicans are equally determined to oppose enactment of any bills which they have not decided, in conference, to give the governor and the Democrats.

Mr. Adler made it plain that the majority in the legislature would give the governor any amount of money for investigating commissions he might appoint to inquire into any of the state departments but only under the Moreland Act.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church will meet Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Snyder, 140 Elmendorf street, instead of with Mrs. John Matthews.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, March 18.—Movements were narrower during the first fifteen minutes of the trading on the stock market today than they have been at any time since the upward movement. The only wide fluctuations were in United Cigar Stores, which rose 3 points to a new high record of 138½, followed by a reaction to 137½. United States Steel fluctuated from 95½ to 96½ and was unchanged from last night's close at the end of the first fifteen minutes. Bethlehem Steel B was influenced by comment made on the annual report and declined ½ to 65½. Sinclair rose to 44½ but quickly reacted to 43½. Kelly-Springfield dropped ¾ points to 113 and then rallied to 115½. General Motors declined 2½ to 161½, followed by a rally to 165. Marine Preferred yielded ¼ to 108½, and then rallied to 109.

The market was again one of specialties during the forenoon, pool manipulation making many closely held issues move up while standard stocks were sluggish. United Cigar Stores on large dealings moved up 3 points to 138½ and then reacted to 136½. Pierce Oil was also in demand, moving up 1 point to 19½, and good gains were shown in all the other oil stocks. Mexican Petroleum advanced 2 points to 189. The greatest gain was in Industrial Alcohol, which rose over 5 points to 143½. United Gulf moved up 1½ to 115½. United States Steel ranged between 95½ and 96½.

The market closed irregular, government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds weak.

Major Woodman was speaking about the results that have accrued from the merging of the two telephone systems. "It's a wonderful improvement," he remarked, "and I laugh when I think of the old days. It reminds me of the man who was called out of bed at three o'clock in the morning to answer a phone call.

"Hello, hello," he yelled, all wrought up.

"There is nobody on the line now," said central sweetly.

"Glad you woke me up and told me about it," remarked the man, "it's the first time I ever knew this line to be busy."—Los Angeles Times.

Country's Corn Production.

When the Indians taught the white settlers of this country how to raise corn, no flight of the imagination could have foreseen the crop of 1918, covering nearly 178,000 square miles, or nearly as much land as there is in Germany.

LEAVE IT TO "PAL"

Dog's Owner, Relies on Animal's Intelligence.

Offspring of Gray Wolf and Highly Bred Scottish Guardian of Sheep, Four-Footed Companion Is Beyond Value.

While in Alabama I made the acquaintance with the strangest dog I have ever heard of—the most unique creature it has been my province to get acquainted with, writes George F. Barba in the Columbus Dispatch. He belongs to a man living at Tysonville, but is known all over the state, and his name is "Pal."

Pal's mother was a shepherd and lived on the plains out West, where she looked after a big herd of sheep. In fact, she was one of the best sheep dogs in the whole region. His father was a gray wolf. So Pal is half wolf and half dog—a common enough thing out West.

Pal grew up with the sheep his mother looked after, and learned all the tricks of rounding them up and bringing them in. But he learned a whole lot more than the average sheep dog knows. He learned that every other animal as well as sheep can be directed and guided and taken care of if you know how to do it. So when Pal's owner wants any certain animal on the farm brought in, he simply tells the dog what he wants and Pal attends to it. He can tell the dog to go to the pasture a mile away and bring in a certain mule and he goes and brings it in. He can direct him to bring in a certain cow or calf or hog and it is done.

But the strange thing about it is that Pal also brings in other dogs. His owner has numerous bird dogs, which he trains upon the plantation. Pal helps train them. If a dog gets too far away, the trainer says, "Pal, bring him in," and Pal does so. He runs to the dog and crowds him toward the owner. He simply will not let him go in any other direction. He doesn't fight the other dog, although at times it may be necessary for him to take hold of an ear and nip it a little. But he annoys the dog until there is nothing else for it to do but to be guided by Pal.

Then Pal is the high sheriff or policeman of the whole plantation. He keeps the peace between the other animals. If two dogs get into a fight, Pal separates them. If he finds a couple of hogs or chickens fighting, he does the same thing. He doesn't bother anything upon the plantation unless it is doing something it ought not to do, and then he takes a hand in the matter and settles it. If he finds a pig in a field where it doesn't belong, he drives it out without being directed to do so. If a horse slips its bridle while hitched to the hitching post and cavorts down the road, it is only for a few moments, for Pal is close upon its heels or at its nose and he brings it back and keeps it standing where it was left.

Taking the Next Census.

The government takes stock of its resources this year. July 1, 1919, begins the next decennial census of the population and industries of the United States. It comes fittingly at an important epoch in the nation's destiny and at a time when we are launching upon a new era of expansion and foreign interest. Thomas R. Logan says in Leslie's: Our statesmen and students will be deeply concerned in the data accumulated as to the value of our industries as well as to their extent. It will be a greatly energized and strengthened America which the new census taker will find. He will observe and record the effects of the war upon our industrial life. He will report also the exact number of our citizens by races and ages. It will be possible to determine how far General Crowder's draft registration fell short of the actual number of population of draft age. The last census showed 98,781,324 population. Guesses as to the present population range from 105,000,000 to as high as 112,000,000. Inroads of the war, of influenza, without compensating immigration, have abated our rate of increase. Despite this, the totals may surprise us.

"Times" as Smallest Seller.

"Having blown the horn of our American friends as to their circulations," said Lord Northcliffe at a luncheon to American editors, "I may be permitted to say that each afternoon we print here a special daily newspaper with perhaps the smallest circulation in the world. I will ask you to come and see it produced. It is the permanent record edition of the Times, which we make for libraries all over the world. We produce it on paper that we believe to be indestructible with indelible ink."—Publisher's Weekly.

CIVIL CALENDAR
IN SUPREME COURT

Motion to Set Aside Dismissal of Krstovic Complaint—State Normal Students Spectators as Testimony Is Taken in Case of Terwilliger vs. Browning, King and Co.

In supreme court, Monday afternoon, after the grand jury findings had been handed up, bail bonds of those out on bail cancelled in cases dismissed, and trials of those indicted moved over to the next county court, the civil calendar was taken up by Justice Ridd.

No. 130. Frederick W. Woolsey against J. Kustendick and ors., an action for ejectment, being an inquiry, was called and plaintiff examined. There was no appearance on part of defendants. The court ordered a writ in favor of plaintiff, John W. Eckert for plaintiff.

To Review Krstovic Testimony. Judge Jenkins made a motion to set aside the verdict of the court made several days ago dismissing the complaint in Krstovic against C. H. Van Buren, et al., being the action brought to recover for conversion of stock. The motion was made on the ground that the dismissal was contrary to law and on all the grounds, etc. Also that the allegations in the complaint dismissed did set up a ground for an action that should have been given to the jury to decide.

Judge Clearwater for defendants opposed the motion. The court said he would review the testimony in the case if a stenographic copy was sent him by Judge Jenkins, and would hear arguments at Albany or counsel could submit briefs.

Jury Secured in 48.

No. 48. Dr. E. W. Terwilliger of Highland against Browning, King & Company, was next taken up for trial and a jury empanelled. Abraham Feinstein for plaintiff; Judge Van Wyck of New York for counsel; Charles P. Northrop for defendant. Judge Clearwater of counsel; John W. Eckert, also of counsel. After the examination of the various jurors called had been made by Judge Van Wyck for plaintiff and Judge Clearwater for defendants, the panel was declared exhausted by Clerk Loughran, and the court ordered Sheriff Smith to go outside the court house and empanel twelve men from which number a sufficient number could be selected to fill up the jury box.

At 4 o'clock the necessary 12 jurors were obtained that were satisfactory and Judge Van Wyck opened for plaintiff, being followed by Mr. Northrop for defendants, each taking up half an hour. At 5 o'clock Justice Ridd, after cautioning the jurors not to discuss the case even among themselves, but come promptly to court at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, instructed Clerk Loughran to adjourn the court until that time, which was done.

Involving Turkish Bath.

The action is to recover damages alleged to have been sustained for being ejected from premises of defendant in basement of Browning, King building, Broadway and Sixth Avenue, New York city. The matter has been in the court for several years, defendant losing in lower courts and in appellate division on two occasions and finally got to court of appeals, which sent it to the supreme court for trial by jury. Plaintiff alleges he leased premises for 16 years, being a Turkish and Russian baths, with swimming pool, cafe and sleeping apartment, in 1903, at a rental of $11,000 a year. He claims he was ejected in 1910 and later offered to pay the $4,000 and more due for rent and costs, that later there was more trouble and business was held up by reason of subway construction, and that tender of $5,700 was refused and defendants would not turn property back to him. He wants possession or damages. Defense is plaintiff was legally ejected and was unable to make the baths, pay and that this was shown as he was unable to pay the rent. Besides the issues of fact there is considerable issues of law in the case. All the witnesses are from out of town. Court reconvened this morning at 10 o'clock.

About 30 young men and ladies, students at the State Normal School at New Paltz were in attendance at supreme court, this morning listening to the testimony in Terwilliger vs. Browning, King & Co. Previous to the opening of court they were shown the interior of the jail under escort of Jailer Robert Ebery and Seth Jacobson. The students as well as members of the bar and spectators were greatly interested in the taking of the testimony of Charles W. Feinstein, the first witness for the plaintiff. Mr. Feinstein who is an architect and is constructing a new building at Richmond Hill, N. Y., is deaf and the questions which were asked by Judge Van Wyck, were repeated by Charles Feinstein, and about fifteen, some of whom, the lip movement being used and the boy's voice not being heard. The testimony was all of a technical character to prove in detail dimensions of the basement used as the Turkish baths, etc. The material in the manner of construction of the premises and diagrams were used. Mr. Feinstein can talk plain enough for the jurors to understand. His wife is also deaf and a mute. The taking of the testimony was of necessity slow.

Dr. Terwilliger, the plaintiff, followed Abraham Feinstein on the stand for a short time for a direct examination had by his attorney. He was not cross examined by defense, that being reserved until later. Dr. Terwilliger testified as to his transaction with the lease.

Max Rosenblatt, a contractor and architect was next called and testified as an expert as to cost of the various materials, construction and other matters pertaining to the Turkish and Russian baths. Abraham Feinstein, attorney for plaintiff in former proceedings in the matter at bar, testified as to making tender of money for rent due at 12,000, court took a recess until 2 p. m.

Not Our Mr. Brady.

Editor of The Freeman.

In my article last Thursday, March 14th, I made a slip of the pen, inadvertently, that ought to be corrected. I mentioned among those appearing at the legislative hearing in defense of Sunday movies was W. A. Brady, the well-known moving man of film fame. But simply mentioned his name and then got his name W. W. Brady instead of W. A. Brady. Strangely, many people of the city have gotten the impression that the said Brady was W. W. Brady of the telephone office of our city, and I guess some have kept his wife hot protesting. I am glad to assure the public that it was furthest from my thought to confuse our city's popular Christian Endeavor leader and Boy Scout enthusiast among the crowd that yelled themselves hoarse at the legislative hearing for the bill to legalize commercialized Sunday moving picture theaters and thus start a great drive to wipe out Christian Sabbath.

Music as Health Aid.

Dorothy Salsbery, the British-society advocate, suggests that the new history of health should have a special department to deal with recreation. The department should take London choirs and choral societies singing in which all could engage. In his view this department would keep the young persons off the streets and out of the saloons.

A scheme for a confederation of London choirs and choral societies with the idea of directing the music in the celebration of national religious instead of the sometimes multifarious that was in evidence on strike nights is being considered by several musicians.
